
ESR Abstract Submission - Be part of the Next Generation of Radiology

Thank you for your interest in submitting your abstract to ECR 2024. Your contribution to the congress is valuable and helps enrich the field of radiology.

All abstracts must be submitted online through myESR.org/abstractsubmission. The abstract submission is open from September 1st to October 10th 2023.

Before embarking on your journey to submit your abstract, we recommend reading the below sections to better understand the process and requirements for successful submission.

Please refer to the comprehensive overview below, which will seamlessly guide you through all relevant processes.

Find all relevant information at one glance below.

Deadline

Abstract submission is open from September 01 to October 10, 2023.

Submission system

All abstracts must be submitted online through www.myESR.org/abstractsubmission

Our submission system, where a guiding layout for the required information in your abstract, is provided.

Submitter/Presenter

The abstract must be submitted by the presenting author. The presenter will receive all notifications and is responsible for the oral presentation and/or the poster upload. Co-authors will not receive any notifications and will not be able to upload or present the abstract unless a presenter change occurs.

Duplicate submissions

You cannot submit the same abstract to more than one presentation format. The submission of duplicate abstracts will, unfortunately, lead to the immediate rejection of the abstract(s) involved.

Edit your Submission

If you have already submitted your abstract and wish to make changes, please contact the abstract submission team per via email (abstracts@myESR.org). We will re-open the abstract for you to edit. When you carry out your edits, please make sure to re-submit.

Case Reports

Unfortunately, case reports of 3 or fewer cases cannot be accepted. We recommend submitting case reports to the ESR's teaching case platform EURORAD, here.
