
Dermot Hughes Assumes Role as Head of Service & Education at Cardiac Services, Uniphar Medtech

Dermot Hughes embarks on a new chapter as the Head of Service & Education at Cardiac Services within Uniphar Medtech, commencing his tenure on January 1st, 2024. Hughes expresses excitement for the journey ahead, highlighting the prospect of collaborating with the exceptional Service & Education team at Cardiac Services for ongoing and future endeavours.

Bringing a wealth of experience, Hughes is a seasoned professional with a clinical background in healthcare delivery and management. His current focus on pioneering medical technology solutions at Cardiac Services involves overseeing a team of Clinical Application Specialists and spearheading large-scale healthcare projects. Additionally, he actively contributes to managing and expanding the Healthcare Informatics/E-health portfolio.

Previously serving as a Senior Business Manager for four years and Healthcare Informatics & Education Manager for over six years, Hughes has been instrumental in directing teams of Clinical Application Specialists, providing training and consultancy services, and overseeing the implementation of Healthcare Informatics projects across Ireland.

Published on : Fri, 5 Jan 2024