
HealthLynked Corp. Names Wall Street Veteran Mike Paisan to Strategic Investor Relations Role

HealthLynked Corp., a global healthcare network specializing in care management for its members, announced the appointment of Mike Paisan as Director of Investor Relations and Strategic Partnerships. HealthLynked, which employs innovative healthcare technologies to link patients, doctors, and medical data, is committed to enhancing healthcare services worldwide.

In this new role, Mike will act as a dedicated liaison between the company and its investors, providing regular updates about the company's progress, answering shareholder queries, and keeping shareholders informed about the transformative work HealthLynked is doing in the healthcare sector through its technology.

As part of improving investor relations, Mike will also implement a series of enhancements, including updating the investor website for better accessibility and user experience.

Mike joined HealthLynked as a Business Analyst in September 2021, and his extensive research has played a pivotal role in the company's strategic decisions. As an expert in competitor analysis and industry trends, Mike has equipped HealthLynked with crucial insights for informed decision-making.

CEO Dr. Michael Dent commented, "Working with Mike has been a great experience. His in-depth research and understanding of the industry have helped us make more informed business decisions. It was a natural fit for Mike to take on the investor relations role as we continue to grow, and we are confident he will excel in this new position."

Mike's 20-year stint on Wall Street as a Sell-Side Equity Research Analyst has equipped him with invaluable expertise. His focus on large, publicly traded insurance companies, and his recognition by the Wall Street Journal as the "Best on the Street" analyst three times, attest to his analytical prowess.
