6 Must Attend Intensive Care Meetings in 2017

1. ISICEM

The International Symposium on Intensive Care and Emergency Medicine (ISICEM) is a highly esteemed event in the intensive care medicine arena, which has become one of the largest congresses in this field.

The 2017 meeting, which will mark its 37th year, will be held 21-24 March in the Square - Brussels Meeting Center in Belgium. It is open to all health professionals with an interest in intensive care and emergency medicine, including physicians, nurses and management.

Around 6,000 participants from across the world attend ISICEM each year to garner a range of benefits. These include opportunities to acquire information on landmark studies, to receive up-to-date reviews on therapies, to gain new insights on management practices, and to network with key players in critical care medicine.

2. ESICM EUROASIA17

This year's event from the European Society of Intensive Care Medicine(ESICM) will be hosted at Harbour Grand Kowloon in Hong Kong from 6-8 April.

The ESICM EUROASIA17 congress will include the addition of a new special session that is attracting interest from across the continents.

The new meeting being presented is a Case-based Discussion with Authors from the Surviving Sepsis Campaign Guidelines 2016 @ESICM.

Guidelines for booking a booth can be found on HealthManagement.org.

3. Future of Critical Care Brainstorming Meeting

This interactive meeting will include 20 questions answered by 10 ICU experts. This new concept will open the floor to leading figures in the field who will present relevant responses to pressing questions regarding the future of intensive care medicine.

The result will be an informal and challenging discussion, which enables varied findings and viewpoints to be shared.

The meeting will be held on 1-4 May at Hotel Boscolo Exedra in Nice, France, and will provide an ideal informal environment in which to make new acquaintances in the field.

4. SMART Meeting

This 28th Smart Meeting Anesthesia Resuscitation Intensive Care <v> will be held from 10-12 May at MiCo Milano Congressi in Milan, Italy.

The world-renowned congress comprises a top level scientific programme, including symposiums and workshops which provide recent updates on research and insights in the fields of anaesthesia, intensive care and emergency medicine.

Alongside this, the meeting also presents a broad technical exhibition of the latest medical equipment and pharmaceutical products.

Now attracting around 3,500 participants each year, the event is a fantastic place to meet inspiring speakers and experts in the field from throughout the world.

The best three abstracts presented at the meeting will be awarded. Find more details at https://healthmanagement.org/c/icu/event/28deg-smart-meeting-anesthesia-resuscitation-intensive-care

5. WCACS 2017

The 8th WorldCongress of the Abdominal Compartment Society (WCACS) will take place from 15-17 June at the Banff Centre in Alberta, Canada.
The symposium has been incredibly effective in promoting knowledge transfer and translation throughout the world, helping to foster a greater understanding of abdominal compartment and critical care medicine.

The Abdominal Compartment Society (ACS) welcomes the submission of abstracts on clinical and experimental research related to the abdominal compartment.

6. ESICM LIVES 2017

Taking place from 23-27 September at Austria Center Vienna in Austria, the 30th EuropeanSociety of Intensive Care Medicine (ESICM) annual congress will present a top level scientific and educational programme.

The leading symposium attracts more than 6,000 delegates each year, including physicians, hospital and department managers, and nurses.

It also offers unparalleled opportunities to commercial and non-commercial organisations to showcase their products and services.

The congress will welcome abstract submissions until 14 April, with more information found at HealthManagement.org

Published on : Mon, 27 Feb 2017