

Agfa HealthCare Obtains Over 250 New Enterprise Imaging Agreements

- 2015 sees successful expansion of company's converged platform approach.
 - Multi-specialty clinical collaboration allows Radiologists to support value-based care coordination.
 - Powerful task-based workflow changes paradigm of productivity and efficiency in Radiology.
 - Embedded XERO Viewer enables universal access and mobility in EMRs, aligning the enterprise with optimized patient care.

(RSNA 2015, Booth #1315, South Hall) Agfa HealthCare, a leading provider of diagnostic imaging and healthcare IT solutions, announces that it has acquired over 250 new agreements for its innovative Enterprise Imaging solution since its launch. Agfa HealthCare's Enterprise Imaging solution enables caregivers to create, collaborate, exchange, and manage a comprehensive medical imaging record throughout the continuum of care.

Agfa HealthCare's Enterprise Imaging solution is an imaging informatics solution that automates task-based clinical productivity, for optimal total cost of ownership. This completely unified imaging platform provides a picture archiving and communication system (PACS), advanced image processing, appointment management, integration of clinical information and results reporting all in one sophisticated platform. The highly intuitive user interface delivers workflow efficiencies, while the single platform reduces complexity. Report consistency and turnaround time are improved with sectional reporting, and the solution is scalable to meet changing imaging needs.

New Enterprise Imaging agreements include imaging centers, community hospitals, university care centers and other health systems. Some leading institutions include: Southern Ohio Medical Center, OH, Nevada Regional Medical Center, MO, Priscilla Chan and Mark Zuckerberg San Francisco General Hospital and Trauma Center, CA, Exeter Hospital, NH, Northwestern Medicine, IL, Birmingham Dental Hospital and School of Dentistry, UK, AZ Sint-Rembert Belgium, and CHIREC Institute, Belgium.

"It is clear that Agfa HealthCare's converged platform approach is gaining traction in the marketplace as an important contribution to the delivery of quality healthcare in the same way converged EMRs have. Agfa HealthCare has over the past twenty years, built its reputation on its innovative PACS solutions and, as we continue to innovate, we will assure that we maintain our strong position in the market, to the benefit of both our long term and our new customers," states Lenny J. Reznik, Vice President of Marketing, North America, Agfa HealthCare.
