Dr. Steven Barker Awarded the 2015 IAMPOV Lifetime Achievement Award

Masimo (NASDAQ: MASI) announced that a member of its Board of Directors, Chairman of its Scientific Advisory Board, and its Chief Science Officer, Dr. Steven Barker, Ph.D., M.D., was honored with the Harvey W. Weiley Lifetime Achievement Award at this month's Innovations and Applications of Monitoring Perfusion, Oxygenation, and Ventilation (IAMPOV) Symposium, in Tokyo, Japan.

"We are pleased to recognize Dr. Steven Barker as the winner of the 2015 IAMPOV Lifetime Achievement Award," said Dr. Katsuyuki Miyasaka, IAMPOV Symposium Chair. "Dr. Barker was selected based on his lifelong work in championing the development of vitally important monitoring technologies and associated testing."

The IAMPOV Symposium brings together clinicians, device developers, and researchers for an interchange of expertise and ideas to promote the development of better healthcare monitoring technologies and to improve their application in the areas of perfusion, oxygenation, and ventilation.

"We congratulate Dr. Steven Barker for this Lifetime Achievement award," said Joe Kiani, Founder and CEO of Masimo. "Steve has been on the cutting edge of research in the areas of oxygen transport, oxygen saturation monitoring, dyshemoglobins, brain function monitoring, and many other patient monitoring modalitites. His steadfast commitment to science and advancements in the area of patient care is second to none. Steve's work has helped shed light on the problems and advancements in the area of oxygen transport."

Steven J. Barker, PhD, MD, received his PhD in Aeronautical Engineering from the California Institute of Technology in 1972, and his MD from the University of Miami in 1981. He has reached the rank of tenured professor in both engineering (University of California at Los Angeles) and anesthesiology (University of California at Irvine, University of Arizona). He chaired the Department of Anesthesiology at UC Irvine from 1990 to 1995, and then at the University of Arizona from 1995 to 2013. He has published over 150 scholarly works, including 15 textbook chapters. Dr. Barker has served as president of the national organization of anesthesiology department chairs (AAPD) and of the Society for Technology in Anesthesia (STA), senior oral examiner for the American Board of Anesthesiology, and Section Editor for Technology for the journal*Anesthesia and Analgesia.* During his 18-year tenure as anesthesiology chair at the University of Arizona, Dr. Barker was active in a number of governance roles outside of his department. He also served seven years as the American Society of Anesthesiologists (ASA) Director for Academic Anesthesiology, representing all university anesthesiology departments for ASA. Since 2005, Dr. Barker has been a member of Masimo's Board of Directors and Chairman of Masimo's Scientific Advisory Board. In 2015, Dr. Barker also took on the role of Chief Science Officer of Masimo.
