
HealthManagement.org: Call for Journal Submissions

HealthManagement.org is a leading publication in healthcare management and leadership. We feature articles on imaging, cardiology, critical care, hospital management and HealthIT.

We welcome papers addressing topics related to COVID-19, diagnostic imaging, radiology, cardiovascular disease, cardiac imaging, critical care, hospital management and healthcare systems and leadership.

We welcome submissions to the last issue of 2021: Cover Story - Labs and Drugs.

Cover Story: Labs and Drugs

In our next cover story, Labs and Drugs, we will discuss the increasingly important role of labs, diagnostics, and drug development in healthcare.

Some topics that we will cover include:

- The role of labs in modern healthcare
- Innovations in drug development
- Infectious diseases and vaccines
- Antibiotic resistance and how to overcome the challenge
- Investment in research and new drug development
- The role of technology within the drug development process

We also welcome articles on effective management and leadership strategies in healthcare. The submission deadline is November 15.

Manuscripts can be sent to our editorial team at edito@healthmanagement.org. Articles can be between 1000 to 3000 words and co-authors are welcome. Please visit our online journal library to review our style and format.

<https://healthmanagement.org/journal-library>

We look forward to working with you!

Published on : Sun, 24 Oct 2021