How PET/CT Scans Aid in Early Detection of Diseases

PET/CT is a hybrid imaging procedure that visualizes metabolic processes. Since tumor cells have a different metabolism from normal cells, PET/CT is primarily used to aid in cancer diagnosis. PET/CT scans can also be used to evaluate Alzheimer’s disease and heart disease.

This short film shows how this hybrid procedure works and how metabolic processes are visualized.

Click here for the latest Decision Support news

Source: Siemens Healthineers

Published on: Wed, 13 Apr 2022

© For personal and private use only. Reproduction must be permitted by the copyright holder. Email to copyright@mindbyte.eu.