During the Official Inauguration at the Meet & Greet Centre, keynote speaker Prof. Dr Eric Mortier spoke briefly on what he thought Innovation HealthCare meant to the healthcare industry followed by some tweets of other participants who attended the congress.

“It may seem like a silly question to ask, but why do we need innovation in Healthcare? I think there are two primary reasons why we need it:

- Firstly, we have continuing challenges in our societies. There are substantial demographic changes, and the elderly population now has a lot more mobility than it had previously. This adds to the enormous and increasing economic burden within the healthcare system. Therefore, I think we have a challenging future even if we do not include climate change, which, we know, poses some worrying issues.
- Secondly, there is the development of science that offers excellent opportunities, but also generates more unsolved problems and raises even more questions. New and emerging Molecular and Synthetic Biology, Big Data, Data Mining, Risk Prediction, Artificial Intelligence, Robotics, and so much more. These are the themes and topics that we have to address as hospital managers. We have to be able to facilitate and support the people who will solve all these challenges. In my mind, this is the primary purpose of this congress.

It has been previously mentioned, but this congress will be challenging logistically. This is the future of the network. Our efforts over the next couple of days will demonstrate the advantages of the network, and I heartily welcome you to visit and experience as much as possible in our country. I genuinely believe that it can serve as a model for the future where collaboration is preferred instead of competition.”
