

ISUOG World Congress Brings Together Leading Experts in Ultrasound for Women's Health

The International Society of Ultrasound in Obstetrics and Gynecology (ISUOG) is pleased to announce registrations are now open for its 34th World Congress, taking place from September 15-18, 2024, in Budapest. The Congress will bring together ultrasound professionals in obstetrics and gynecology, alongside global leaders in women's health. Over four days they will explore the latest research, technological advances and clinical applications of ultrasound in women's health.

ISUOG is thankful for the support of its local partners for the 34th World Congress: the Hungarian Society of Ultrasound in Obstetrics and Gynecology and the Hungarian Society of Obstetrics and Gynecology. Recognised as the largest international gathering dedicated to ultrasound in obstetrics and gynecology, this year's Congress will unfold in the vibrant European city of Budapest at the Hungexpo Congress and Exhibition Centre. It promises an immersive experience against the backdrop of Budapest's rich cultural heritage.

Attendees will have the opportunity to engage in a comprehensive program including masterclasses, workshops, plenary lectures and symposia. The scientific program features a diverse range of engaging session types providing the latest updates and insights from those at the frontline of research, including interactive lively debates and live ultrasound scan demonstrations conducted by ISUOG's world leading experts. It will all combine to deliver an invaluable learning experience.

Top plenary lectures will feature thought leaders from the OBGYN profession and beyond, holding distinguished positions at world leading institutions and hospital clinics, and representing esteemed organisations such as Microsoft Healthcare and the World Health Organization.

With an annual attendance of over 2,500 delegates worldwide, including obstetricians, gynecologists, sonographers, radiologists, and other healthcare professionals, the ISUOG World Congress fosters professional ties, networking and knowledge-sharing in a relaxed and informal setting.

Attendees can take advantage of the early bird discount by registering before the deadline on July 14th. To learn more about the event and to register, please visit the ISUOG website at <https://www.isuog.org/events/isuog-world-congress-2024/registration.html>
