

Volume 3 / Issue 4 / 2008 - HITM News

Lithuania

The project "eHealth services" introduced to the Lithuanian medical community

The leaders of the project "eHealth services" organised five topical meetings with physicians and employees of healthcare institutions in the three largest cities of Lithuania. Key strategies and plans for creating the united national eHealth system as well as the aspects and benefits of hospital information systems being installed in healthcare institutions in Vilnius, Kaunas and Klaipeda were presented to more than 200 representatives of the medical community. The last dissemination seminar took place in the last week of August in Vilnius.

The executive manager of the project "eHealth services" Evaldas Dobravolskas emphasized that the primary aim of the project is to start installing the information systems corresponding to all international standards in Lithuanian healthcare institutions, and that successful implementation of this project will significantly contribute to the creation of the National eHealth system.

For more information, please visit: <http://esp.sam.lt>

Published on : Thu, 3 Apr 2008