
Marie de Groot Assumes New Role as AI Engineer at IBM

Marie de Groot, an esteemed AI Engineer and accomplished Public Speaker, has recently joined IBM. With two master's degrees and a rich tapestry of expertise spanning five years, Marie has made significant contributions across start-ups, multinational corporations, and entrepreneurship ventures.

Her professional journey showcases a remarkable ability to craft and fine-tune generative AI and machine learning solutions, leaving an indelible mark in the realms of major banks and telecommunication companies.

Her current position at IBM as an AI Engineer in London, England, commenced in October 2023, building upon her previous roles within the company, including serving as the Chair of the IBM Youth Board since August 2022. Additionally, she has held the influential role of Chair of the IBM Shadow Board, a platform designed to provide a youthful perspective to executive decisions by actively participating in shadowing directors and contributing to pivotal business choices.
