

Optim Medical Center-Screven Welcomes Dr. David Lariscy

Optim Medical Center-Screven proudly announces the arrival of David Lariscy, MD, a Sylvania native and practitioner from My Heart Doctor, to its medical staff. Dr. Lariscy's expertise in cardiology services marks a pivotal moment for the hospital, offering specialized cardiac care previously unavailable in the region.

The introduction of cardiology services at Optim Medical Center-Screven reflects Optim's commitment to enhancing healthcare accessibility within the rural communities it serves. Dr. Lariscy brings an extensive background in medicine, boasting Board Certification in Internal Medicine, with a specialization in Cardiology and Cardiovascular Diseases.

Hospital CEO Lagina Evans expressed excitement at the addition of Dr. Lariscy to the medical staff, stating, "Optim Medical Center-Screven is thrilled to welcome back a local talent like Dr. David Lariscy to our community. His dedication to cardiac care will undoubtedly benefit our patients."

Dr. Lariscy's educational background includes a Bachelor's degree in Chemistry from Georgia Southern University, followed by a master's degree in Biomedical Science at Barry University in Miami, FL, and Ross University School of Medicine in Barbados, where he graduated with highest honors.

The strategic inclusion of cardiology services aligns with Optim Medical Center-Screven's vision to ensure comprehensive and accessible healthcare for the local population. This initiative not only addresses the unmet needs for specialized cardiac care but also reinforces the commitment to enhancing healthcare infrastructure in rural areas.
