

PACSGEAR Passes 3,000 Customer Milestone

PACSGEAR, the provider of connectivity solutions for medical image management and electronic health records, has announced that it has more than doubled its number of installations since 2009. With over 2,500 U.S. customers, PACSGEAR's products are now installed in nearly half of all U.S.-based hospitals. PACSGEAR has also broadened its global customer reach, with the company's products translated into twelve languages and deployed worldwide in more than 500 facilities across 50 countries.

"With the solutions developed since the groundbreaking release of PacsSCAN eleven years ago, we have dramatically expanded our capability to integrate clinical documents and images with electronic health records," said Eli Rapaich, PACSGEAR's CEO. "When customers hear about our new products and say 'Who else but PACSGEAR?', I know that we have earned their respect. Customers appreciate our long-term commitment to deliver quality solutions, and we appreciate their ongoing support."
