
TEDMED 2012

From April 11th-13th, TEDMED will gather 2,000 adventurous thinkers and doers, from 300 medical and nonmedical disciplines, at the Kennedy Center in Washington, DC. For three exciting days, this uniquely diverse community explores the issues, challenges and innovations that will help shape the future of Health and Medicine for 300 million Americans...and the world.

TEDMED's curated audience includes thoughtful individuals from every realm of science, business, technology, government, religion, law, military, media and the arts. At TEDMED, you hear ideas you would never otherwise hear...meet people you would never otherwise meet...and discover opportunities you would never otherwise find. The result is both an amazing and unforgettable experience.

Speakers are diverse, ranging from Lance Armstrong and Loudon Wainwright III to Steve Wozniak and US Surgeon General Regina Benjamin.
