
Uwe G. Becking is the New Executive Director of Strategic Business Development at Oracle

Uwe G. Becking has stepped into a pivotal position at Oracle as the Executive Director for Strategic Business Development in the Public Sector. Oracle, renowned for its mission to revolutionise data comprehension and uncover novel insights, welcomes Becking's expertise and vision.

In his role, Becking brings a wealth of experience, having previously held the position of Head of Public Sector & Healthcare DACH at SAS. His dedication to realising impactful strategies aligns seamlessly with Oracle's commitment to innovation and progress.

Becking's philosophy embodies perseverance and a relentless pursuit of goals, as reflected in Friedrich Nietzsche's words: "Many are stubborn about the path they have taken, few about the goal". This ethos underscores his approach towards achieving milestones and fostering growth in the public sector realm.

Becking's leadership is poised to steer Oracle's initiatives towards groundbreaking advancements in strategic development within the public sector.
