

Zisis Sotiriou Joins the Editorial Board of HealthManagement

HealthManagement is excited to announce that Zisis Sotiriou, Group Chief Operating Officer, Evidia, has been appointed a new member of our esteemed Editorial Board.

Evidia Group is Europe's leading provider of diagnostic imaging, radiotherapy, and teleradiology. It manages operations across 140 centres with a team of 2,700 professionals and 800 doctors.

Passionate about healthcare and digital innovation, Zisis Sotiriou has proven experience transforming business models in multinational organisations and a strong work ethic that allows him to lead by example and build highly effective and motivated teams.

Zisis was previously SVP and Regional COO for Affidea Group, overseeing 158 medical centres in eight countries (Italy, Greece, Croatia, Romania, Lithuania, Hungary, Czech Republic, and Bosnia) with over 6,000 professionals. He has held several managerial positions in the organisation, starting in 2006, and played a strategic role in the company's growth. Until 2011, he was also the founder of Constructa, a family-owned business delivering small to medium construction projects in Greece.

Zisis completed the Leadership Academy Programme in Health Economics, Policy and Management at the London School of Economics, graduated from the Technology Educational Institute of Athens and holds an MBA from Cotrugli Business School.

HealthManagement.org welcomes Zisis Sotiriou to its Editorial Board. His years of experience in healthcare operations and his insight into radiology will be a valuable asset for our platform. His addition to our team will help further our goal of providing our readers with high-quality content and strategic insights.
